"In the NHS in England from April 2015 to the end of March 2016, 24,674 patients were reported to have developed a new pressure ulcer...Collectively we should not feel that this is an acceptable position for our patients...In May 2016 4.5% of reported ST patients had a pressure ulcer = 8,426 patients...We are seeing a plateau and variation in organisations" NHS Improvement February 2017

“Research shows between 80% and 95% are avoidable” Stop the Pressure Campaign, NHS England

“Pressure ulcers will be priority areas for 2016/17 as the first part of our programme on patient safety initiatives” NHS Improvement, Business plan 2016/17, July 2016

Chaired by Tina Chambers Immediate past Chair Tissue Viability Society Tissue Viability this summit aims to bring together tissue viability, wound care leads and senior nurses to discuss the important issue of eliminating avoidable pressure ulcers. The conference will cover implementing the national stop the pressure campaign and monitoring progress against the National NICE Quality Standard for Pressure Ulcers. Pressure Ulcers have recently been announced as a key priority area for the new patient safety collaboratives and pressure ulcer prevention is a key NHS Outcomes Framework Improvement Area.

The conference will open with a national updates updating delegates on developments in pressure ulcer prevention, and monitoring progress against the national quality standard released last year. The conference will continue with case studies focusing on developing a regional collaborative approach to reducing pressure ulcers, eliminating pressure ulcers on the ward, sustaining pressure ulcer prevention towards zero pressure ulcers – in hospitals and working with community and care homes: moving beyond 100 days free. Practical case studies will focus on reducing and preventing pressure ulcers, in depth extended sessions focusing on pressure ulcer grading and reporting including unstageable pressure ulcers, latest evidence on risk assessment, pain as a predictor of pressure ulcer development and factors associated with severe pressure ulcer development, pressure ulcers and safeguarding, and developing your skills in root cause analysis and investigation. The event will look at this issue of avoidability and discuss the latest evidence on what is actually considered unavoidable.
