

NEW VASCULAR NURSING COURSE

London
South Bank
University

Imperial College Healthcare
NHS Trust

London South Bank University and Imperial College Healthcare NHS Trust are excited to announce their NEW VASCULAR NURSING COURSE, 'Care of the Vascular Patient', taught at level 6 and level 7, and is due to start on 3rd October 2017.

The module spans over 12 weeks, with 6 taught days at London South Bank University, and St. Mary's Hospital, Paddington. The inter-professional modules are taught by expert clinicians and focus on multiple aspects of the holistic care of the vascular patient, from both a surgical and medical perspective. The module will encourage participants to develop their knowledge, skills and competence in providing evidence-based care for the vascular patient in the acute care setting. Participants will also develop their skills in critical thinking and service innovation, contributing to an enhanced understanding of the quality of care within vascular services.

To apply and obtain further information please go to:

www.applycpd.com/lmbu/

Alternatively to express your interest please contact:

Michael Sampson

Senior Lecturer

London South Bank University

michael.sampson@lsbu.ac.uk

0207 185 8081

Louise Allen

Vascular Nurse Specialist

Imperial College Healthcare NHS Trust

louise.allen@imperial.nhs.uk

0203 312 6246